

QUICK NEWS

GERMAN AIR FLEET SHELLS BELGIAN TOWN

BERLIN, Dec. 20.—The German War Office issued the following report this afternoon: "Lively artillery duels and mining operations occurred along the west front. One of our air squadrons bombarded Poperinghe, Belgium, where enemy troops were concentrating. An English biplane was shot down at Bruges and the occupants killed."

BULGARS' LOSS 130,000 TO DATE

LONDON, Dec. 20.—It is estimated in allied staff circles at Salonica that to date the Bulgarians have lost 130,000 men," says an Athens dispatch to the Evening Standard.

AUSTRIANS GAIN MORE GROUND IN BALKANS

BERLIN, Dec. 20.—The text of this afternoon's official statement follows: "Balkan theatre of war: In the fighting northeast of the Tara River mountain guns and two field guns were captured. In further successful fights about Mollvatze the Austro-Hungarians took several hundred prisoners."

HOTEL HELD LIABLE FOR SAFETY OF GUEST IN FIRE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—A Nebraska statute making innkeepers liable for the safety of their guests in the event of fire was upheld by the Supreme Court today as a reasonable exercise of police power. A verdict of $6500 for personal injury, obtained in Nebraska courts by Emil J. Strahl against Rome Miller, a hotel proprietor, was affirmed. Strahl was injured following a fire, and alleges that Miller did not use diligence in warning guests of the outbreak of the fire.

MONTENEGRINS TREACHEROUS, BERLIN CHARGES

BERLIN, Dec. 20.—An official statement issued at the war office today accuses the Montenegrins of treachery. It described the taking of Montenegrin prisoners as follows: "The Montenegrins at some places held up their hands and waved flags, advancing until near the Austro-Hungarian lines, where they suddenly threw hand grenades. This treachery met with corresponding treatment. It always will be treated in the same way."

FORMER PRESIDENT TAFT ILL

LA CROSSE, Wis., Dec. 20.—Former President William Howard Taft on his arrival here today was met at the train by a physician and taken to the home of George W. Burton, a Yale classmate and friend, where he was put to bed. The former President was taken with chills on the train, and it was necessary to make up a bed for him in the parlor car. His condition was not believed to be serious.

RUSSIANS DRIVE BACK PERSIAN GENDARMES

BUCHAREST, Dec. 20.—Severe fighting has taken place between the Persian gendarmes and Russian troops in the mountains around Kurn and Hamadan, in Persia, about 80 miles southwest of Teheran, according to information received here today. The gendarmes were supported by Kurd tribesmen under German and Turkish officers, as well as many members of the Mejlis (the Persian Parliament). The Persians retired from their mountain forts after suffering heavy losses.

THOUSANDS OF SERB REFUGEES PERISH IN SNOW

LONDON, Dec. 20.—"A half-million refugees fled from Serbia," says the Times' Salonica correspondent, "preferring the horrible alternative of a winter fight to snow-covered mountains to submission to the Germans. Little has been learned of their fate, but it is only too likely that many thousands perished of cold or starvation or were devoured by wolves. Some 750,000 refugees thus assembled on the Plain of Kosovo on the way to Albania and Montenegro. Of these, a quarter of a million were persuaded to accept the authority of the Austro-Germans; the others fled."

REACTIONARIES STRONGER IN RUSSIA, BERLIN SAYS

BERLIN, Dec. 20.—"The reactionary movement in Russia is progressing," said an item issued by the Overseas News Agency today. "Minister of the Interior Chorost has suppressed the announced conventions of the Russian National Towns Union and the Russian National Union of self-Government, the Russian Committee on War Industries stating that Moscow is no place for gatherings, since the mob which started recent street riots is still restless."

RUMANIA GENERAL ENDS LIFE TO AVOID DISGRACE

GENEVA, Dec. 20.—Munich newspapers received here announce the suicide of General Jonesco, commanding the Second Rumanian Army Corps. According to the story, the general was suspected of having been bribed by one of the Powers. The Minister of War ordered an inquiry and, his suspicions being confirmed, he sent two officers to inform General Jonesco of the result of the investigation. Two hours later General Jonesco killed himself.

KAISER FORBIDS CHRISTMAS FETES BY COURT

LONDON, Dec. 20.—The Kaiser has prohibited any Christmas festivities in the German court or otherwise before peace shall have been established, according to a report received here by the Exchange correspondent. This report says that even New Year's wishes will be barred and that the royal Princes will not be allowed to return home to spend Christmas in their family circles. The Kaiser and Kaiserin will spend Christmas at headquarters in France.

INVASION OF BRITAIN BY GERMANS PREDICTED

LONDON, Dec. 20.—During the relaxation in all the offensive campaigns European interest is focused on the probabilities of some new but as yet undeveloped upheaval. It appears to be taken for granted on all sides that the policy of the Central Powers will be to attempt to gain a decision somewhere, while their opponents will prefer to devote the winter to preparations for warfare in the spring. The Observer considers a German attempt to invade England as a desperate gamble, one of the foremost possibilities, and believes that the extensive movements of troops in Belgium may mean preparations for embarking at Zeebrugge and in the Scheldt River.

BERLIN ADMITS SINKING OF TWO WARSHIPS

BERLIN, Dec. 20.—The following official statement is issued here: "The small cruiser Bremen and an accompanying torpedo boat have been sunk by a submarine in the eastern Baltic. A considerable portion of the crews were rescued. Many bodies and wreckage continue to come ashore from the German vessel Buez, which sank or was destroyed two days ago. Fog prevented an investigation of the disaster and it is not known what caused the sinking of the Buez. Some believe that she ran into a German mine field, while another version is that she was torpedoed by a British submarine."

UNITED STATES SETS NEW SHIP-BUILDING RECORD

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—American shipyards have under construction now more vessels than ever before were building in the United States to add to an American merchant marine whose gross tonnage already is the largest in the country's history, said a report from the Commissioner of Navigation. Ninety-eight merchant vessels of more than 3000 tonnage are being built or are under contract. These, with many small vessels being constructed, have a total tonnage of 761,311. Altogether 171 foreign vessels have taken American registry under the act of August 14, 1914. Ninety-eight American vessels have been transferred to foreign registry since August.

VIENNA TO STAND FIRM DESPITE NEW NOTE, IS BELIEF

Officials Fear Popular Feeling Will Force Austria to Reject Demands

DISPATCHED YESTERDAY
Lansing Has Private Phone Wire to President at Hot Springs

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—The national capital settled down today to a period of anxious waiting. The last word to Austria in the Ancona case is en route to Vienna. It likely will be delivered there on Thursday. And on the final reply made thereto will hinge the future relations between the two countries. Secretary Lansing today announced that the note would be made public at noon Wednesday. Lansing said the note was sent yesterday. From his statement he expected it to be a Vienna settlement, established that the conclusion was drawn that it is a short communication. The State Department this afternoon announced the receipt of a cablegram from Ambassador Page at Rome, saying that the Italian government established that the Ancona, sunk by an Austrian submarine, the cablegram stated further that only three of these were saved. There is little expectation in the minds of Secretary of State Lansing and those in his confidence that Austria will yield. Although pressure to make concessions is being exerted from Berlin, and Hungarian officials are pointing out that a diplomatic break at this time must have a serious effect on the Balkan outlook, the confidential advisers of the Department indicate that the anti-American element controls in Vienna at present as the final rejoinder of this government to Austria is a reiteration of all previous demands, coupled with the declaration that the subject is one of principle not procedure. Officials say that Vienna can be expected to maintain her announced position and decline to disavow the sinking of the Ancona. The only possible ray of brightness seen here is the possibility that Austria may receive the supplemental information and it might be possible for Austria sharply to contradict the evidence now before the State Department that the Ancona was torpedoed and sunk after she had stopped. So far, however, no intimation has come from Ambassador Pennington at Vienna indicating that such information is available there. Although Secretary Lansing has been clothed with absolute power to settle the Ancona dispute, he will be able to reach President Wilson at a moment's notice should a grave emergency arise. A special telephone line has been stretched between the Presidential apartment in the Homestead Hotel, at Hot Springs, Va., and the State Department. This is of the "hot tap" variety, slugged through the White House switchboard and equipped so that if any attempt is made to listen in anywhere, a danger signal is flashed at both ends. It is not expected, however, that the "phone" will be much used as Lansing has full authority to act as he sees fit at all times.

"GLIMPSES FROM AFAR" IS ALL CURIOUS GET OF PRESIDENT AND BRIDE

Woodrow Wilson, Private Citizen, Not Woodrow Wilson, President of U. S., on His Honeymoon

COUPLE IN SECLUSION

HOT SPRINGS, Va., Dec. 20.—Secluded in their suite in the east wing of the Homestead Hotel here, President Wilson and his bride enjoyed the second day of their honeymoon free from all prying eyes. An automobile ride at top speed was scheduled to be their only out-of-door diversion. The remainder of the day will be spent on the big sun veranda which adjoins their immediate suite or in the cozy sitting room which had been especially decorated for them. The entire wing of the hotel has been set apart for the couple and access to it is denied by a single secret service man who guards the entrance. The President caused it to be known today that he desired complete seclusion. No visitors will be received. All meals will be taken in the private dining room of the suite. And it has been arranged that the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart for their private use at certain hours of the day. The President has let it be known that he has divested himself of his official duties and that he is here on his honeymoon as Woodrow Wilson, happy bridegroom, instead of as Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. Only "glimpses from afar" of the President and his bride are possible for the fewer than 100 guests now at the hotel here. They have even been denied so far the customary view of the couple passing through the corridors. There is a private entrance to the wing of the hotel in which the Presidential suite is situated and it will be used at all times. And, by order of the President, the golf links shall be set apart